Finding Lung Cancer Earlier

by Sunil Nagpal, MD, Medical Oncologist

Lung cancer is the third most common cancer and the leading cause of cancer death in the United States. Approximately 85% of all U.S. lung cancer cases happen in smokers. Around 37% of U.S. adults are current or former smokers. Overall, lung cancer has a very poor prognosis. However, if found early, surgery can cure lung cancer.

Who is at risk for lung cancer?

High risk:
People age 55 to 75 years old with a 30 pack year history of smoking who are current smokers or have quit smoking less than 15 years ago.

Moderate risk:
People age 50+ years with a 20 pack year history of smoking and another risk factor (Radon, asbestos, working with metals, arsenic, cadmium, chromium, family history of lung cancer). One pack year is equal to smoking one pack per day for one year.

1 pack a day x 1 years = 1 pack-year

How is the screening done?

Screening is done using a low dose spiral CT scan (LDCT scan). It is recommended every year for high risk patients. It is also recommended for moderate risk patients but the clinical evidence is less compelling. Screening should be discontinued once a person has not smoked for 15 years or develops a health problem that substantially limits life expectancy or the ability or willingness to have curative lung surgery.

What to expect after low dose CT scan is done?

Your physician will go over the results with you. If any suspicious lesions are found, further testing, more frequent LDCT scanning or a consultation with a lung specialist may be advised. If the screening CT scan is normal, annual screening may be advised.

Benefits of Detection and Early Treatment

Annual screening for lung cancer with LDCT in a defined population of high-risk persons can prevent a substantial number of lung cancer–related deaths. The magnitude of benefit to the person depends on that person’s risk for lung cancer because those who are at highest risk are most likely to benefit. Smoking cessation remains an essential part of screening program.

Harms of Detection and Early Intervention and Treatment

The harms associated with LDCT screening include not finding a cancer when one is present and finding a lesion that is not cancer. False-positive LDCT results occur in a substantial proportion of screened persons and the vast majority of all positive results do not lead to a diagnosis of cancer. In a high-quality screening program, further imaging can resolve most false-positive results; however, some patients may require surgery. According to United States Preventive Services Task Force, the benefit of screening outweighs the risk.

WMCC Welcomes New Providers

DANIEL SCHROYER, MD, joined our radiation oncology team on July 1. Dr. Schroyer was a radiation oncologist at North Mississippi Medical Center in Tupelo prior to joining WMCC. He earned a Bachelor of Arts degree from Hope College and his medical degree from Wayne State University in Detroit. Dr. Schroyer completed an internship in internal medicine at Virginia Tech and his residency in radiation oncology at the University of Minnesota.

MELISSA BOULDEN, PA-C
Certified Physician Assistant / Gynecologic Oncology

Melissa Boulden, PA-C, has joined our gynecologic oncology team in Kalamazoo. Boulden, a certified physician assistant, spent two and a half years at the Western Michigan University School of Medicine where she specialized in infectious disease diagnoses and treatment plans. She earned a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration degree from the University of Wisconsin, Platteville, and a Master of Science degree in Physician Assistant Studies from Midwestern University in Chicago. Boulden is working directly with patients of Drs. Anna Hoekstra and Angela Caffrey.

WMCC Oncologists Announce Retreats

After many decades caring for cancer patients, two longtime WMCC hematologists/oncologists are preparing to retire this summer.

Glen Heggie, MD, retired his stethoscope on July 6th after 37 years in practice. Dr. Heggie worked in Alabama and Idaho before joining WMCC in 1994, the year our center opened. Board certified in four specialties—internal medicine, medical oncology, hematology and geriatrics—Dr. Heggie took a special interest in blood cancers and hemophilia and was Director of the WMCC Hemophilia Clinic. “Dr. Heggie is an excellent physician and will be greatly missed by patients and staff”, said Joseph Mirro, MD, WMCC CEO/CMO. “His clinical knowledge—particularly of complex blood disorders—has been a tremendous asset to those who have such a diagnosis”.

Raymond Lord, MD, is set to retire on September 1st after 50 years in practice. Dr. Lord began his oncology career in 1974 with Midwest Oncology Center at Borgess Medical Center. Three years later, he joined Kalamazoo Cancer Center, PC, where he remained until the opening of West Michigan Cancer Center in 1994. Dr. Lord is our founding clinical research director and has served as Principal Investigator of the Kalamazoo Community Clinical Oncology Program (CCOP) for nearly 20 years. Dr. Lord is board certified in internal medicine, hematology and medical oncology. “Patients everywhere owe Dr. Lord a tremendous debt for his contributions to clinical research which has resulted in better treatments”, said Dr. Mirro.

The Importance of a Primary Care Physician

We use a team approach to take care of you and your health. Doctors, physician assistants, nurses, medical assistants and lab technicians all play a key role. Another very important member of the team is your primary care physician. Your primary care doctor can assist you with general medical concerns as well as other issues not directly related to your cancer or blood disorder. Every WMCC patient should have a primary care physician. Both Borgess and Bronson hospitals can assist you including reviewing your insurance to find a doctor in your coverage network.

You may also contact your health insurance company at the phone number on the back of your insurance card to find out which area primary care physicians accept your insurance. If you have questions, or would like more education on the role of a primary care physician, please call your West Michigan Cancer Center Nurse Liaison.

In these hot summer months, it is important to remember to stay hydrated. Water is a great choice, but some foods can also count towards your daily fluid needs. Watermelon, cucumbers, zucchini, celery, bell peppers, strawberries, and tomatoes are some of the fruits and vegetables with high water content. Other foods such as Jell-O and popsicles count towards your fluid intake. Most people need around 64 ounces of fluid per day. This varies depending on your body size, age, and medical conditions. The recipe for popsicles below is a great way to include a fruit while increasing fluid intake.

FRUIT POPSICLES

2 cups strawberries (or other fruit) sliced
1 can coconut milk (lite or regular)
1 tablespoon maple syrup

Place all ingredients in blender and blend until smooth consistency. Pour into popsicle molds or paper cups. If using paper cups, place popsicle sticks into the center. Freeze for 2 hours or until solid.

If you visit a provider on our 3rd floor, you may have recently noticed a new type of television content being offered. It’s called AccentHealth TV.

AccentHealth TV provides health and wellness programming. It is offered exclusively by CNN and is co-hosted by the network’s Chief Medical Correspondent, Dr. Sanjay Gupta, and HLN’s Robin Meade. In addition to tips on maintaining a healthy lifestyle and wellness programming, we are able to share WMCC-specific information on AccentHealth TV to make your experience with us better.

Let us know what you think of AccentHealth TV! Survey cards are available from the 3rd floor receptionist.

MEET OUR ‘STAR’ DUO!

2014 Star Award Nominees: Volunteers Gary Pritts and Bob Bos

Some people just have a way of making others feel comfortable and secure. Gary Pritts and Bob Bos are two of those people. Gary began donating his time at WMCC in 2010 as a security volunteer on Monday afternoons. A quiet, unassuming type of guy, Gary puts other people first, making a special effort to assess patients’ needs as they arrive. As people step out of their cars and walk into WMCC, Gary gladly offers a helping hand or a wheelchair. He is always attentive, and quietly provides comfort and assistance. Often, Gary will keep patients company while they wait for a ride, providing small talk, a cup of coffee, and sometimes, even a warm blanket. He is a Navy veteran, and often chats with WMCC guests about their own military service. Gary keeps a close eye on our visitors in the parking lot, monitoring for safety issues and assisting with traffic when necessary. He goes the extra mile to help patients and caregivers and our staff and patients have come to trust and respect him.

Bob is that even in the midst of his wife’s illness, he took comfort in encouraging other patients as well as staff. Tommie lost her battle to cancer in 2008. Shortly after, Bob returned to WMCC to volunteer. He knows, firsthand, how tough it is to walk into the center and to watch a loved one experience radiation and chemo treatments. Bob says that he ‘gives from his heart to bring a small ray of sunshine’ to our patients.

Bob serves as a security volunteer, greeting patients and caregivers with a big smile, kind words and a firm hand shake. Visitors and staff members alike love to hug Bob as they walk into the Center. If Bob is not in his usual place at the front door on Thursday mornings, staff will call to find out if he is ok and where he is!

Thank you, Bob and Gary for being our ‘star’ WMCC volunteers!
Allegan General Hospital has remodeled and expanded its growing oncology clinic and it is now known as West Michigan Cancer Center (WMCC), Allegan Campus.

The partnership with West Michigan Cancer Center will continue to provide the people of Allegan County access to the highest quality cancer care in the region, close to home when they need it most.

“We are very pleased to be expanding our partnership with the West Michigan Cancer Center,” said Gerald Barbini, President and CEO of Allegan General Hospital. “This arrangement allows us to bring high quality, state of the art oncology services to the Allegan General Hospital campus.”

Marcia Liepman, MD, WMCC medical oncologist and hematologist, has been caring for patients in Allegan for 18 years and will continue in her role in the new partnership. Dr. Liepman sees patients in Allegan two days a week—on Mondays and Tuesdays—with assistance from Jill Noack, PA-C.

“Through this cooperative alliance, the leadership of both organizations believes that patients in Allegan can benefit from the vast resources of the West Michigan Cancer Center”, said Liepman. “This includes full access to the skills of our radiation and gynecologic oncologists. The partnership aligns perfectly with both the vision of Allegan General Hospital and WMCC—to deliver exceptional, comprehensive and integrated cancer care to patients throughout the region.”

Funding for the remodeling and expansion project was provided by the hospital as well as major donations from Steelcase, Perrigo and the Allegan General Hospital Foundation.

A Way to Say Thank You

WEST MICHIGAN CANCER CENTER

Grateful Patient Program

As our patients complete their care, they, their friends or family often ask how they can give back to our center to help in the fight against cancer. Sometimes, they express their gratefulness through a kind letter, a visit to a staff member, or organizing a golf outing. WMCC’s Grateful Patient Program allows people to formally recognize the care they received or a staff member who went above and beyond for them. The Grateful Patient Program is more than a generous thank you—participating in the program by making a donation to WMCC allows you to enhance the experience of future patients.

Funds raised by the Grateful Patient Program are used to help us purchase the newest technologies, introduce new programs, provide support to our Patient Care Services Program, and educate our community on how to prevent cancer. In other words, these funds have a big impact on cancer patients, right here in Southwest Michigan.

You can participate in the program by filling out the card below. Your personal message will be shared with your designated staff member or with the entire staff if you wish. Your stories matter to us and your gift has an impact.

If you would like to know more about the Grateful Patient Program or giving opportunities at WMCC, please contact Jessica Hermann-Wilmarth, Director of Development, at 269-373-0129 or email jwilmarth@wmcc.org.

Free Help to Quit Tobacco

It's never too late to quit—free assistance for WMCC patients.

We want to help our patients quit tobacco. That's why we've partnered with the Michigan Oncology Quality Consortium (MOQC) and the Michigan Cancer Consortium (MCC) on a tobacco cessation program. The program is available to WMCC patients and provides free resources.

Cancer patients who currently use tobacco can access FREE quit support through the state of Michigan. A referral form from a WMCC oncologist must be completed and sent, along with the consent of the patient. This allows for free counseling and coaching, up to eight weeks of free nicotine patches, gum, or lozenges, and ongoing support through a telephone access line. Ask your oncology team today if this program is right for you! You will receive a call from the help line within a few days of the faxed referral, and will then gain access to free quit tobacco support.

Are you a caregiver interested in quitting tobacco? The MOQC/MCC program is for cancer patients only. However, WMCC hosts a collaborative website with resources and education at www.quitsmokingkalamazoo.com that is available to everyone. Business cards with information are available at WMCC.

Parking Update

We’ve made some significant improvements to our parking lots to serve you better.

First, we’ve added a connection drive between our main parking lot and the lot directly north of our center (formerly known as Lot 16). This means that once you enter our main lot, you can now access the adjacent lot without having to return to Park or Water Street.

Second, we’ve resurfaced our secondary lot, redesigned the parking layout, improved lighting and changed the traffic flow for better efficiency. Look for new signage to help guide you through the changes.
